Click to verify

Creating citations for entire books in APA is one thing, but what happens when you need to cite a specific chapter within that book? This EasyBib citation guide will go over the correct way to create an APA chapter citation for chapters from both printed books and digital books, as well as how you can use this information to cite things like sections, paragraphs, pages, and more. The information provided here references the 7th edition of the American Psychological Association's Publication Manual (this guide is not affiliated with the association). Looking for lessons about something other than citing a book chapter? At EasyBib, you will find citation tools and an extensive collection of reference guides to help you finish that essay or research paper. Guide Overview Two parts to citations for chapters Any source used in your paper should have the corresponding citations: In-text citation Full citation in the reference page In-text citations The in-text citation is included within the text of your paper. There are two types: Parenthetical citations Narrative citations Parenthetical citations are placed at the end of a quote or paraphrase. These citations include a few details on the source (usually the author's name or source title and the year published) within parentheses. Example: "When two cultures come together, the words of their languages compete for survival" (Crystal, 2013). Narrative citations are when part of the source's information is included within the sentence, so only the year needs to be indicated in parentheses. Example: Crystal wrote that "when two cultures come together, the words of their languages compete for survival" (2013). Next, let's take a look at how to create full citations or references for a specific chapter. What you need The general structure of a full reference for a chapter includes this information: Author's name or the name of the group author Year published Title of the chapter Editor(s) names Title of the book Publisher name Edition and/or volume number (if applicable) Pages of chapter (pp. #-#) DOI or URL (if applicable) Let's look at these elements fit into different types of source citations. How to cite a chapter in a printed or online book with all contents written by the same author(s) If you're using information from a chapter of a book where one author or a group of authors equally share credit for all contents of the book, then you just cite the book — there's no need to cite the chapter! Structure: Author Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of book in sentence case. Publisher name. DOI or URL Example: Ray, R.B. (1985). A certain tendency of the Hollywood cinema, 1930-1980. Princeton University Press. In-text citation: Parenthetical citation: (Ray, 1985) Narrative citation: Ray (1985) Note that parenthetical in-text citations for direct quotes from the book should also include page numbers: Parenthetical citation for direct quote: (Ray & Brown, 2000, pg. 44) For a narrative citation, you can format your citation the same way you would an in-text citation, as long as you include the page number in the sentence. If you do not include the page number in the sentence, place it at the end, like this: Narrative citation for direct quote: Mia Lee and Paulo Brown (2000) assert that "future generations will thank us for the care we have taken here" (p. 44). How to cite a chapter in an edited book If the chapter you are trying to cite has been published within an edited book, then it's necessary to provide both the author(s) of the chapter and the editor of the book, as well as the appropriate titles. Structure: Chapter Author Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of chapter in sentence case. In Editor First Initial, Editor Second Initial, Editor Last Name (Ed.), Title of book in sentence case (Edition, Volume, Page No.). Publisher Name. URL or DOI Example: Brooks, V.W. (1962). Preface. In R.S. Milton & L.G. Seymour (Eds.), American literature survey (3rd ed., pp. xvii-xx). Penguin Books. Notice how both the chapter title ("Preface") and the specific page numbers ("pp. xvii-xx") are provided inside of the reference. For this reason, this information does not need to be included in the in-text citation unless a direct quote is being made. If a direct quote is being made, use the format in the section above ("How to cite a chapter in a printed or online book with all contents written by the same author") to include page numbers. In-text citation: Parenthetical citation: (Brooks, 1962) Narrative citation: Brooks (1962) Looking to cite something other than a book chapter? EasyBib is your source for comprehensive, easy-to-follow citation and reference guides that can help you finish your essay, paper, or project. How to cite a chapter in an edited book in another language (not translated) Write the name of the chapter in its original language, then write the translated name next to it in brackets. Much like citing a book that is in a different language that does not use the Roman alphabet, it is necessary to transliterate the chapter name with the Roman alphabet. The book name does not need to have a translation following it. Because the chapter name and page numbers are included in the reference, the page numbers do not need to be included in an in-text citation unless a direct quote is being made. If a direct quote is being made, use the format in the section above ("How to cite a chapter in a printed or online book with all contents written by the same author") to include page numbers. Structure: Chapter Author Last Name, F. M. (Year). Chapter name [Translated chapter name]. In Editor's F. M. Last Name (Ed.), Title of book (chapter page range pp. #-#). Publisher. DOI/URL Example: Morales, M. (2005). Usando tecnologia nueva [Using new technology]. In J. Reyes (Ed.), El grande libro de enseñando (pp. 135-150). Libros Importantes. In-text citation: Parenthetical citation: (Morales, 2005) Narrative citation: Morales (2005) How to cite a chapter in an edited and translated book If you're using a chapter from an edited and translated book, be sure to include the names of both the translator and editor. If someone is both the translator and editor, you can include their name twice. Also, for works that have been republished from another language, include the original year published at the end of the citation. Again, because the chapter name and page numbers are included in the reference, the page numbers do not need to be included in an in-text citation unless a direct quote is being made. If a direct quote is being made, use the format in the section above ("How to cite a chapter in a printed or online book with all contents written by the same author") to include page numbers. Structure: Chapter Author Last Name, F. M. (Year). Chapter name (Translator F. M. Last Name, Trans.). In Editor F. M. Last Name (Ed.), Title of book (chapter pages range pp. #-#). Publisher. (Original work published Year) Example: Han, T. (2014). The night the tiger was caught (1922-1923) (J. S. Noble, Trans.). In X. Chen (Ed.), The Columbia anthology of modern Chinese drama (pp. ##-#). Columbia University Press. In-text citation: Parenthetical citation: (Han, 2014) Here is a video that explains how to cite a chapter in APA style: References American Psychological Association. (2020a). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association (7th ed.). American Psychological Association. (2020b). Style-grammar-guidelines. Brooks, V.W. (1962). Preface. In R.S. Milton & L.G. Seymour (Eds.), American literature survey (3rd ed., pp. xvii-xx). Penguin Books. Crystal, D. (2013). The story of English in 100 words. St. Martin's Press. Ray, R.B. (1985). A certain tendency of the Hollywood cinema, 1930-1980. Princeton University Press. Published October 31, 2011. Updated April 9, 2020. Written and edited by Michele Kirschenbaum and Elise Barbeau. Michele Kirschenbaum is a school library media specialist and the in-house librarian at EasyBib.com. Elise Barbeau is the Citation Specialist at Chegg. She has worked in digital marketing, libraries, and publishing. How do I cite a chapter in an edited book in APA style? To cite a book chapter in APA style, you need to have basic information including the author(s), publication year, chapter title, editor(s), and publisher. The templates for in-text citations and reference list entries of a book chapter with one author and one editor along with examples are given below. Citing a chapter in an edited book in APA style In-text citation templates and examples: Author of the American Meterological Society, 77(3), 437–471. � In-text citations Page/paragraph numbers are optional for paraphrased information. Narrative Author Surname (Publication Year) Broadhead (2010) Parenthetical (Author Surname, Publication Year) (Broadhead, 2010) Reference list entry template and example: Author Surname, F. M. (Publication Year). Chapter title: Subtitle. In F. Editor Surname (Ed.), Book title (pp. ##-#). Publisher. Broadhead, P. (2010). Building friendships through playful learning in the early years. In J. Moyles (Ed.), The excellence of play (pp. 216–228). McGraw-Hill. Both the chapter title and the book title are set in sentence case; however, the book title is set in italics. The word "In" is used before the editor's name. Note that the style for setting the editor's name is the initial of the first name followed by the surname. Use "(Ed.)" after the editor's name. Enclose page information after the book title in parenthesis. How do I cite a book chapter in APA when the book includes an editor and/or translator? To cite a book chapter with an editor and/or a translator in APA style, you need to have basic information including the authors, publication year, chapter title, editors and/or translators, book title, publisher, and page numbers. The templates for in-text citation and reference list entry of a book chapter with an editor and/or a translator along with examples are given below: In-text citation template and example: Narrative Author Surname (Original Publication Year/Republished Year) Badiou (2003/2013) Parenthetical (Author Surname, Original Publication Year/Republished Year) (Badiou, 2003/2013) Reference list entry template and example: Author Surname, F. M. (Publication Year). Chapter title: Subtitle (F. TranslatorSurname, Trans.). In F. EditorSurname (Ed.), Book title (pp. ##-#). Publisher. (Original work published year) Badiou, A. (2013). The writing of the generic. (B. Bosteels, Trans.). In N. Power & A. Toscano (Eds.), On Beckett (pp. 1–36). Climamen. (Original work published 2003). The chapter title is in sentence case. The translator's name is set in parenthesis along with the word "Trans." Follow the first initial with the surname for the translator. The word "In" is used before the editor's name. Note that the style for setting the editor's name is the initial of the first name followed by the surname. Use "(Ed.)" after the editor's name. The book title is set in italics. Include page numbers in parenthesis after the book title with "pp." before the page range. Leave the publisher out. Retrieved date: Use the date you accessed the information URL: Use the URL as it is given the search bar Note As the data sets in web tools may be updated regularly, it is good academic practice to include the date of retrieval. Be aware that some web tools only use data from a limited date range. Always check that the age of the data set is relevant and appropriate to your assessment. Some web tools will have named authors/contributors. Always look for these before using the organisation as author. † Postgraduate students You may want to consider including your search/filter parameters in your assessment or in an appendix if you are including a lot of data and/or difficult to extract data. This shouldn't be necessary for small amounts of data or at undergraduate level. Page 3 In-text citations for written content created with generative AI Best practice is to incorporate your prompt and the output into your assignment to make it clear how you have used the AI model. When prompted with "Give me 10 ideas for research on small businesses in New Zealand", the idea I was most interested in from the ChatGPT-generated text was "Investigate the extent to which small businesses in New Zealand are implementing sustainable practices, such as eco-friendly packaging, and analyze the impact on their competitiveness and brand image" (OpenAI, 2024). If the prompt or output is long you may include full transcripts in an appendix. When provided with the follow-up prompt "Give me some more ideas on sustainable practices I could investigate, the ChatGPT-generated text included points like "circular economy implementation" and "green supply chain management" (OpenAI, 2024; see Appendix A for the full transcript). Note: If you are unsure about the most appropriate way to incorporate prompts or outputs into your assignment, talk to your tutor. In-text citations for images created with generative AI For written assignments, use a figure number and include your prompt as a note beneath the in-text citation. See the example below. Figure 1 Example of an AI-generated Image (Midjourney, 2022) Note. Image generated using the prompt "poster green forests words mindfulness birdsong and a New Zealand tui songbird" For visual presentations, provide an in-text citation that includes the Software Name and the date of the software version: (Midjourney, 2022) Home / Guides / Citation Guides / APA Format / How to Cite an eBook in APA Share to Google Classroom Published July 29, 2014. Updated June 21, 2022. In this guide, you will go through the basic steps of citing an e-book according to the 7th edition of the official Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (2020a), Chapter 10.2. The association is not affiliated with this guide. This guide will also point out changes to e-book referencing guidelines between the 6th and 7th edition of the Publication Manual. Guide Overview 6th Edition vs. 7th Edition Before we begin, it might be helpful to explain the key changes in e-book citation structure that happened with the publication of the APA's 7th edition. In the new edition, an e-book citation looks more similar to a print book citation in the ways that they are referenced. The biggest difference now is that an e-book citation includes the URL or DOI if available. Here are the two specific changes: The platform, device, or format no longer needs to be included. (e.g., [Kindle version]) The publisher name is included as it would be in a printed book citation. Basic E-Book Citation Structures Reference Page Structure: Author Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of e-book in sentence case. Publisher Name. DOI or URL The example above is not only appropriate for e-books, but is also the basic structure used for any standard print book that has a DOI. In-text citation structure: Parenthetical citation: (Author Last Name, Year Published) Narrative citation: Author last Name First Initial (Year Published) E-Book Citation Examples Reference Page Structure: Author Last Name, First Initial, Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of e-book in sentence case. Publisher Name. DOI or URL Example: Clark, M. & Phelan, J. (2020). Debating rhetorical narratology: On the synthetic, mimetic, and thematic aspects of narrative. The Ohio University Press. In-text citation examples: Parenthetical citation: (Clark & Phelan, 2020) Narrative citation: Clark & Phelan (2020) Citing an E-book Without a DOI or URL If you are trying to reference an electronic book that does not have a known DOI or URL, then you may end the reference after the publisher name. This is also the case for e-books that are sourced from academic research databases. Reference Page Structure: Author Last Name, First Initial, Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of e-book in sentence case. Publisher Name. Example: Cialdini, R. B. (2009). Influence: The psychology of persuasion. Harper Collins E-books. In-text citation examples: Parenthetical citation: (Cialdini, 2009) Narrative citation: Cialdini (2009) Citing a Republished E-book Reference Page Structure: Author Last Name, First Initial, Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of e-book in sentence case. Publisher Name. DOI or URL (Original work Published Year) Example: Wells, H.G. (1992). The war of the worlds. Project Gutenberg. (Original work published 1898) In-text citation examples: Notice how the in-text citations include both the original publication date and the e-book publication date, separated by a slash with no spaces. Parenthetical citation: (Wells, 1898/1992) Narrative citation: Wells (1898/1992) Citing a Translated E-book If the e-book has been translated from its original language, then provide the name of the translator(s) in parenthesis (with the same last name but different first initials) To cite sources that have authors with the same last name but different first initials? To cite sources that have authors with the same last name but different first initials? Structure: Author Last Name, First Initial, Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of e-book in sentence case (First Initial Last Name of Translator, Trans.). Publisher Name. DOI or URL (Original Published Year) Example: Yoshimoto, B. (2015). Kitchen (M. Backus, Trans.). Grove Atlantic. In-text citation examples: Parenthetical citation: (Yoshimoto, 2015) Narrative citation: Yoshimoto (2015) Citing an E-Book: Reference Overview E-book Type Structure Example Authored e-book with a DOI or URL Author Last Name, First Initial, Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of e-book in sentence case. Publisher Name. DOI or URL Clark, M. & Phelan, J. (2020). Debating rhetorical narratology: On the synthetic, mimetic, and thematic aspects of narrative. The Ohio University Press. Authored e-book without a DOI or URL Author Last Name, First Initial, Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of e-book in sentence case. Publisher Name. Cialdini, R. B. (2009). Influence: The psychology of persuasion. Harper Collins E-books. Republished e-book Author Last Name, First Initial, Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of e-book in sentence case. Publisher Name. DOI or URL (Original work published year) Wells, H.G. (1992). The war of the worlds. Project Gutenberg. (Original work published 1898) Translated e-book Author Last Name, First Initial, Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of e-book in sentence case (First Initial Last Name of Translator, Trans.). Publisher Name. DOI or URL (if applicable) For republished books ONLY: Year the publisher will need the following information on your source: First Name Initial and Last Name of the author(s) Year Published Title of the e-book Translator Name (if applicable) Publisher Name of the e-book or print book that has a DOI. With the EasyBib guide on creating an APA book citation: What You Need To create an e-book citation, reference and reference list entry of an ebook along with examples are given below for one author: Author Last Name, First Initial. Middle Initial. (Year Published). Title of e-book in sentence template and example: Narrative Author Surname (Publication Year). Freeman (2021) Parenthetical (Author Surname, Publication Year) (Freeman, 2021) Reference list entry template and example: Author Surname, F. M. (Publication Year). Book title. Publisher. URL Freeman, B. (2021). Infinite. Thomas & Mercer. reads .cwrtbar 5/146-1368705-3384623?pd rd w=3QM8k&pf rd p=0285128d-50e0-4388-acba-48a4a1f64720&pf rd rr=V8G7YR82TF8VXNHVT4KX&pd rd r=7090822f-473a-4259-99e1-914b53cef458&pd rd_wng=tNYqu&pd rd i=B081Z5VNJH&psc=1&asin=B081Z5VNJH&revisionId=e9fb30e6&format=1&depth=1 The book title should be in sentence case and italics. It is not necessary to mention the format, platform, or device of the ebook in the reference. How do I cite a book chapter in APA when the book includes an editor and/or translator? To cite a book chapter with an editor and/or a translator in APA style, you need to have basic information including the authors, publication year, chapter title, editors and/or translators, book title, publisher, and page numbers. The templates for in-text citation and reference list entry of a book chapter with an editor and/or a translator along with examples are given below: In-text citation template and example: Narrative Author Surname (Original Publication Year/Republished Year) Badiou (2003/2013) Parenthetical (Author Surname, Original Publication Year/Republished Year) (Badiou, 2003/2013) Reference list entry template and example: Author Surname, F. M. (Publication Year). Chapter title: Subtitle. (F. Translator, Trans.). In F. Editor (Ed.), Book title (pp. ##-#). Publisher. (Original work published year). Badiou, A. (2013). The writing of the generic. (B. Bosteels, Trans.). In N. Power& A. Toscano (Eds.), On Beckett (pp. 1–36). Climamen. (Original work published 2003). The chapter title is in sentence case. The translator's name is set in parenthesis along with the word "Trans." Follow the first initial with the surname for the translator. The word "In" is used before the editor's name. Note that the style for setting the editor's name is the initial of the first name followed by the surname. Use "(Ed.)" after the editor's name. The book title is set in italics. Include page numbers in parenthesis after the book title with "pp." before the page range. Include the publication year of the original work in parenthesis. How do I cite a book with two authors with the same last name but different first initials? To cite sources that have two authors with the same last name but different first initials? To cite sources that have two authors with the same last name but different first initials with no editors in your citations, in-text citations are arranged alphabetically according to the initial. Sources with two authors Include the first author's first initials in all text citations, even if the sources have different publication years. Narrative: J. Chen (2011), T. Chen (2012), and X. Chen (2007) Parenthetical: (J. Chen, 2011; T. Chen, 2012), & X. Chen, 2007) Note that in parenthetical citations, in-text citations are arranged alphabetically according to the initials only for the first authors with the same surname in all in-text citations. Even if the second authors are different people with different initials, do not include the initials of the second author. Narrative: J. Chen and Lung (2012), T. Chen and Lung (2011), and X. Chen and Lung (2007) Parenthetical: (J. Chen & Lung, 2012; T. Chen & Lung, 2011; X. Chen & Lung, 2007) Note that in parenthetical citations, in-text citations are arranged according to the initials of the first author. Sources with multiple authors Use only the first author's name followed by et al. If two or more sources have the same last name for the first author, differentiate them by including the first initials for the first authors. Narrative: J. Chen et al. (2012), T. Chen et al. (2011), and X. Chen et al. (2007) Parenthetical: (J. Chen et al., 2012; T. Chen et al., 2011; X. Chen et al., 2007) Note that in parenthetical citations, in-text citations are arranged according to the initials of the first author. Reference list entry for alphabetization: Without considering the number of authors. Chen, J. (2011). Chen, J. & Lung, M., & Xia, P. (2011). Chen, J., & Lung, M., & Xia, L. (2012). Chen, T. (2012). Chen, T. Chen, X., & Lung, N. (2012). Chen, T., Lung, N., & Xia, P. (2012). Chen, X. & Lung, G. (2007). Chen, X., Lung, O., & Xia, A. (2007). Home / Guides / Citation Guides / APA Format / How to cite in APA when there are multiple authors Share to Google Classroom Published October 28, 2020. Updated June 21, 2022. This article covers how to cite a reference in APA style (7th ed.) when there are multiple authors. Broadly speaking, in an APA style "the author" refers to the person(s) or group(s) who should be given credit for the work being referenced. Here's a run-through of everything this page includes: In-text citations when there are multiple authors APA 7th ed. uses the author-date citation system for citing references in text. Unless you are citing a source with no author in APA, the structure of parenthetical citations includes placing the author's last name/surname, followed by a comma, and the publication year. In narrative citations, this information is incorporated into the sentence. Parenthetical citation for two authors: Authors' last names are connected with an ampersand (&) between the authors' last names. Parenthetical citation for two authors: (1st Author & 2nd Author, Year Published) (Curtis & Williams, 2020) Narrative citation for two authors: 1st Author & 2nd Author (Year Published) Curtis & Williams (2020) Three or more authors When citing a journal paper in APA with three or more authors, only the first last name of the first author listed and add "et al." after it. "Et al." is Latin for the phrase "and others," which is why it is used as a substitute for two or more authors' last names. Parenthetical citation for three or more authors: (1st Author et al., Year Published) (Harris et al., 2020) Narrative citation for three or more authors: 1st Author et al. (Year Published) Harris et al. (2020) Here is a page with more information on when to use "et al." in APA style. Group authors The same guidelines for in-text citations apply when the authors of a source are a distinct group or organization such as a government agency, association, nonprofit organization, business, hospital, task force, or study group. To confirm whether a reference was written by individual author(s) or a group, check the cover or title page. Hint: for an online resource, look at the webpage or website, rather than the name of just one content contributor. Before using an abbreviated group name as the author of your citation, spell out the abbreviation and define the group one time first in the text. Afterward, use the abbreviation of the group name throughout the rest of the paper. Group author in-text citation examples: First parenthetical citation with group abbreviation included: (Association of Jesuit Colleges and Universities [AJCU], 2020) Subsequent parenthetical citation: (AJCU, 2020) First narrative citation with group abbreviation included: The Association of Jesuit Colleges and Universities [AJCU] (2020) Subsequent narrative citations: The AJCU (2020) Avoiding ambiguity in in-text citations Sometimes, in-text citations that have three or more authors, some of whom have the same last name, and the same publication year can look like they are the same reference name. For example, Curtis et al. (2020) could refer to Curtis, Acres, Thomas, Henderson, and Tyler (2020) OR Curtis, Acres, Thomas, Henderson, Maxey, and Esparza (2020) To avoid this ambiguity and confusion for the reader, write out as many names as possible for the in-text citation until the references are distinguished, and then add "et. al" to abbreviate the other authors' names. Example: Curtis, Acres, Thomas, Henderson, et al. (2020) OR Curtis, Acres, Thomas, Henderson, Maxey, et al. (2020) When only the final author's is the same, write out all the names in every citation to prevent confusion. Example: Curtis, Acres, Thomas, Henderson, and Tyler (2020) Curtis, Acres, Thomas, Henderson, and Esparza (2020) Reference list entries when there are multiple authors APA has slightly different reference structures for different source types (e.g., book, website, journal article, etc.), but each structure generally includes the following: Author last name, Author initials. (Date Published). Title. URL or DOI if available. Need more help with citing a particular source? Find further guidance in this APA citations guide. One or two authors For references with one or two authors, cite using the four-part structure. Two individual authors example: Smith, J., & Jones, S. (1994). Making a movie star. Behind the Scenes Stories: A Journal of Celebrity Life, 44(2), 192–200. One group author example: The American Marine Society. (2003). Whale mating patterns in the new millennium. The American Marine Society Magazine, 17-20. 2–20 authors In APA 7th ed., up to 20 authors should be included in a reference list entry. Write out the last name and first initial(s) for each contributor. 2–20 authors example: Wright, A., Komal, G., Siddharth, D., Boyd, G., Cayson, N., Beverley, K., Travers, K., Begum, A., Redmond, M., Mills, M., Cherry, D., Finley, B., Fox, M., Ferry, F., Almond, B., Howell, E., Gould, T., Berger, B., Bostock, T., ... & Xia, N. (2011). Styling royalty. London Bridge Press. 21+ authors For references with more than 20 authors, after listing the 19th author replace any additional author names with an ellipsis (. . .) followed by the final listed author's last name and first initial(s). 21+ authors example: Wright, A., Komal, G., Siddharth, D., Boyd, G., Cayson, N., Beverley, K., Travers, K., Begum, A., Redmond, M., Mills, M., Cherry, D., Finley, B., Fox, M., Ferry, F., Almond, B., Howell, E., Gould, T., Berger, B., Bostock, T., ... Booker, T. (2020). Eating well: Tips from 23 lifestyle authors. Food Magazine. Troubleshooting Solution #1: How to order the names of multiple authors in an APA reference Authors should be cited in the exact order that they are listed by the source, even if they have not been listed alphabetically. Solution #2: How to cite an article with more than 20 authors in APA style If an article has more than 20 authors, all authors do not need to be listed in the reference. Instead, the ellipsis acts as a substitute for all the names between the first 19 and the final authors. No ampersand (&) is needed before the final name. For example: Richards, B.A., Lillicrap, T. P., Beaudoin, P., Bengio, Y., Bogacz, R., Christensen, A., Clopath, C. Costa, R. P., de Berker, A., Ganguli, S., Gillon, C. J., Hafner, D., Kepecs, A., Kriegeskorte, N., Latham, P., Lindsay, G. W., Miller, K. D., Naud, R., Pack, C. C., ... Kording, K. P. (2019). A deep learning framework for neuroscience. Nature Neuroscience, 22(11), 1761–1770. When making an in-text citation, only write the first author's last name followed by "et. al." This applies to both parenthetical and narrative citations. For example: (Richard et al., 2019) Solution #3: How to cite an article written by an organization in APA style When an article is written by an organization, use the typical four-part APA structure (author, date, title, publisher) and cite the organization as the author. For example: American Nurses Association. (2019). 2018 Annual Report, American Nurse Today, 14(6), 29-36. 496621/globalassets/docs/ana/ana-annual-report-for-2018.pdf Organization as author and publisher If the organization that authored an article is also its publisher, omit the publisher's name in the citation. In-text citation when an organization is an author Use the organization's name as the author. For example: American Nurses Association [ANA] (2019) If an organization's name is long, abbreviate it by doing the following: First, write the organization's name in full the first time, followed by the abbreviation in brackets, followed by the date of publication and the complete name. For example: American Nurses Association [ANA] (2019) 1st in-text parenthetical citation: (American Nurses Association [ANA], 2019) After this distinction is made, abbreviations in-text can be used as demonstrated below: Narrative citations: The ANA (2019) Parenthetical citations: (ANA, 2019) Published October 28, 2020. How do I cite a source with multiple authors and editions in APA style? To cite a source with multiple authors and editions in APA style? To cite a source with multiple authors and an edition number is similar to citing a journal or a book reference with multiple authors. An example of a book reference with three authors and an edition number, along with a template, is given below: In-text citation template and example: Narrative Author Surname et al. (Publication Year) LeBuffe et al. (2012) Parenthetical (Author Surname et al., Publication Year) (LeBuffe et al., 2012) Reference list entry template and example: Author Surname, F. M., & Author Surname, F. M., & Author Surname, F. M. (Publication Year). Book title (edition number). Publisher LeBuffe, P. A., Naglieri, J. A., & Manderth, A. (2012). Devereux early childhood assessment for preschoolers (2nd ed.). Kaplan Early Learning Company. Use numerals to indicate an edition number. The word "edition" is abbreviated as "ed." Italicize the book title and follow sentence case for capitalization. How do I cite a source that has multiple authors with the same last name and same initials in the same as a source with different authors. There is no need to add the initials of all surnames (although the same) appear in a single source. Examples of a book reference with three authors with the same last name and initials and their templates are given below: In-text citation template and example: Narrative Author Surname et al. (Publication Year) Dunn et al. (2007) Parenthetical (Author Surname et al., Publication Year) (Dunn et al., 2007) Reference list entry template and example: Author Surname, F. & Author Surname, F. (Publication Year). Book title. Publisher. Dunn, L. M., Dunn, L. M., & Dunn, L. M. (2007). Peabody picture vocabulary test-IV. American Guidance Service. Share — copy and redistribute the material in any medium or format for any purpose, even commercially. Adapt — remix, transform, and build upon the material for any purpose, even commercially. The licensor cannot revoke these freedoms as long as you follow the license terms. Attribution — You must give appropriate credit , provide a link to the license, and indicate if changes were made . You may do so in any reasonable manner, but not in any way that suggests the licensor endorses you or your use. ShareAlike — If you remix, transform, or build upon the material, you must distribute your contributions under the same license as the original. No additional restrictions — You may not apply legal terms or technological measures that legally restrict others from doing anything the license permits. You do not have to comply with the license for elements of the material in the public domain or where your use is permitted by an applicable exception or limitation . No warranties are given. The license may not give you all of the permissions necessary for your intended use. For example, other rights such as publicity, privacy, or moral rights may limit how you use the material. For each type of source in this guide, both the general form and an example will be provided. The following format will be used: In-Text Citation (Paraphrase) - entry that appears in the body of your paper when you express the ideas of a researcher or author using your own words. In-Text Citation (Quotation) - entry that appears in the body of your paper after a direct quote. References - entry that appears at the end of your paper. Information on citing and several of the examples were drawn from the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (7th ed.). APA format establishes a number of clear rules for how to cite works using author information. How you reference different sources varies depending on the number of authors to whom the source is attributed. For example, the way that you reference a single author will differ from the way in which you reference a source written by a group of people. A book written by one author: In order to know how to properly list books, articles, and other sources as well as in-text citations in APA format. The following guidelines can help you prepare a reference section for your APA paper. These guidelines are sometimes referred to as APA 7 formatting in the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association, 7th edition. Articles and other works that do not provide an author attribution should begin with the title of the work in sentence case. If the title is a book, list the title in italics. The volume number, issue number (if available), and page numbers should follow journal titles, while book titles should be followed by the publisher's name. For example: Journal A student guide to APA format. (1997). Psychology Weekly, 8, 13-27. Book The ultimate APA format guidebook. (2006). Student Press. For in-text citations or those referenced within the body of the text, you will also use the title, either in quotation marks (for articles) or in italics (for books). For example: Journal I am using the proper APA format (A student guide to APA format," 1997). Book I am using the proper APA format right now (The ultimate APA format guidebook, 2006). Works by a single author should list the author's last name and initials. The date of publication should be enclosed in parentheses and followed by the title of the article or book in sentence case. Books and journal titles should be listed in italics. The volume number, issue number, and page numbers of the article should follow journal titles, while book titles should be followed by the name of the publisher. For example: Journal McCrae, R. R. (1993). Moderated analyses of longitudinal stability. Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, 65(3), 577-585. Book Bandura, A. (1977). Social learning theory. Prentice-Hall. Single-author in-text citations should include the surname and the date of publication in parentheses. For example: As Bandura (1997) mentions... or (Bandura, 1977). If you cite different authors with the same last name, include the first initial in your in-text citations to distinguish them. For example: The outcomes of the research comparing intervention X with placebo were negligible (A. Alper, 2004). However, intervention Y proved to be more effective than placebo (B. Alper, 2005). The APA format for multiple authors varies depending on how many authors a publication has. Works by two authors should list the last names and first initials separated by a comma and an ampersand (&) instead of "and." These names should be followed by the date of publication enclosed in parentheses. For example: Author Kantler, F. H., & Busemeyer, J. R. (1982). The use of problem-solving and decision-making in behavior therapy. Clinical Psychology Review, 2(2), 239-266.Buss, A. H., & Pomin, R. (1975). A temperament theory of personality development. Erlbaum. In-text citations of works by two authors should include the surnames of both authors separated by the word "and" or by an ampersand if using parenthesis. For example: Studies by Buss and Pomin (1975) support... or (Buss & Pomin, 1975). According to APA 7 guidelines, works by three to 20 authors are cited by listing the last names and first initials of each author separated by commas and an ampersand (&) before the last author's name. Author names should be followed by the date of publication enclosed in parentheses. For example: Journal Abma, J. C., Chandra, A., Mosher, W. D., Peterson, L. S., & Piccinino, L. J. (1997). Fertility, family planning, and women's health: New data from the 1995 National Survey of Family Growth. Vital and Health Statistics, 23(9), 1-67. Book Alper, S., Schloss, P. J., Etscheidt, S. K., & Macfarlane, C. A. (1995). Inclusion: Are we abandoning or helping students? Corwin Press. In-text citations for works by three to 20 authors should list the first author's name, followed by "et al." in every citation. For example: Abma, et al. (1997) supports...or (Alper, et al., 1995). However, if you are citing multiple works by similar groups of authors, you may need to include multiple names to avoid confusion. For example: Alper, Schloss, Etscheidt, et al. (1995) discovered...or (Alper, Schloss, Etscheidt, et al., 1995). Whether citing a source with three, five, seven, or 20 authors, the APA format is the same. When a work is credited to more than 20 authors, the reference lists the last names and first initials of the first 19 authors separated by commas before the last author's name followed by an ellipsis (. . .) and then the final author. (Note: there was no ampersand in this listing). The remainder of the reference follows the same format when listing the authors: Last Name, & Last Name, F List the authors by their last names and initials, and use a comma followed by the date of publication enclosed in parentheses. After the authors and date are listed, the rules are the same as for single authors. Here's an example of what this might look like for a book entry: Cook, L. & Greene, C. (2016). The New Literary Theory. Wakefield Publishing. In APA 7, if a work contains 21 or more authors, the surnames and initials of the first 19, followed by a comma, an ellipsis, and the name of the final author. Follow this basic format: Author, A., Author, B., Author, C., Author, D., Author, E., Author, F., Author, I., Author, J., Author, K., Author, L., Author, M., Author, N., Author, O., Author, P., ... Author, Z.Note that you should not use an ampersand in this scenario, only an ellipsis.When writing a narrative citation for a work with two authors, use "and" between the authors' names rather than an ampersand. Immediately follow the authors' names with the year of publication in parentheses. For example: Gretzky and Smith (2016) criticized this widely held theory in their obvious work.However, for a parenthetical citation, use an ampersand between the names, include the first named author, followed by "et al." and the year of publication. In a narrative citation, this will look like: Gretzky et al. (2016) showed consistent results in their latest study.And here's an example of this in a parenthetical citation: The results of the study appeared to be consistent (Gretzky et al., 2016).For direct quotations, you should also include the page number(s) along with the names and year.Ensure your available formats all current APA guidelines by having it professionally proofread by our experts. Jump to your free sample of 500 words or less today! If you are citing a source with six or more authors, the surname of only the first person attributed as one of the source's authors should be included in your in-text citation, followed by the words 'et al'. All the authors' surnames and initial(s) should appear in the full reference for the source (separated by commas) and with an ampersand before the final author. The rest of the reference should follow the usual style for the type of source you are citing. In-text citation: (Battersby et al., 2018) Reference list: Battersby, C., Armus, L., Bergin, E., Kataria, T., Meixner, M., Pope, A., Stevenson, K. B., Cooray, A., Leisawitz, D., Scott, D. Bauer, J., Bradford, C. M., Ennico, K., Fortney, J. J., Kaltenegger, L., Melnick, G. J., Milam, S. N., Narayanan, D., Padgett, D., & Wiedner M. C. (2018). The Origins Space Telescope. Nature Astronomy, 2, 596-599.